

Colorado Rural Health Center

Enhancing Healthcare Services in Colorado by providing information, education, linkages, tools, and energy toward addressing rural health issues.

Who We Are

The Colorado Rural Health Center is Colorado's non-profit State Office of Rural Health. CRHC works in collaboration with federal, state, and local partners to offer a variety of services and resources to Colorado's rural healthcare providers, facilities, and communities.

Why We Are Here

The Colorado Rural Health Center's mission is to enhance healthcare services in Colorado by providing information, education, linkages, tools, and energy toward addressing rural health issues. We offer a variety of programs and services to help ensure that people in rural areas have access to healthcare services. We also work with urban partners to better understand and serve rural Colorado.

What We Do

Through our mission, the Colorado Rural Health Center (CRHC) works with federal, state, and local partners to offer various services and resources to Colorado communities.

Funding and Equipment

CRHC disseminates funds and equipment for private and public organizations. These funds may include equipment from a federal grant, loan repayment or scholarships to enhance the workforce, or technical assistance grants to rural hospitals and their communities.

Workforce Support

The Colorado Rural Health Center provides a variety of programs and resources aimed at healthcare workforce shortage issues. Our Colorado Provider Recruitment (CPR) program provides comprehensive recruitment and retention services. We offer grants to communities to support education and continuing education for healthcare providers, and match grants for educational loan repayment.

Educational Opportunities

The Colorado Rural Health Center offers workshops, training programs, and technical assistance to communities and facilities. Examples include coding, billing, and compliance assistance. We also host Colorado's Annual Rural Health Conference and the Annual Rural Health Clinics Forum.

Information and Referrals

The Colorado Rural Health Center develops and distributes information on rural health issues. With our extensive network of partners in the public and private sectors, we are able to provide advice, assistance, and support for rural health needs.
