LETTER OF RESIGNATION

November 27, 2013

Cindi Markwell Secretary of the Senate 200 E. Čolfax Ave. Denver, CO 80203

Dear Madam Secretary:

One year ago, on the day before Thanksgiving 2012, I was informed that all the ballots had been counted and I had won reelection to the State Senate with 35,664 votes. I was thankful for the opportunity to spend the next four years of my life serving the people of Colorado and fighting for middle-class jobs, high-quality educational opportunities, and public safety. However, now on the day before Thanksgiving 2013, in the interest of preserving the progress made over the last year, I am resigning as State Senator for District 19, effective immediately.

This decision has been difficult to make. I believe I have listened closely to the ideas and concerns of my constituents in the past five years, both through the over-100 town hall meetings and community coffees I have hosted, and in the thousands of emails and phone calls from engaged citizens in my community. Together we have made great progress finding solutions to the many challenges facing Colorado.

In 2013, we worked to pass a robust job-creation agenda, which included the passage of the "Keep Jobs in Colorado Act." We worked to expand opportunities for all kids -preschool through post-secondary -- to get a high-quality education. We worked to protect our most vulnerable citizens, especially seniors, which included my bill SB 13-111 to require reporting of elder abuse.

We also worked pass sensible gun-safety legislation. Most Coloradans believe that going through a background check is a reasonable thing to do if it means we can keep guns out of the hands of violent criminals. Most Coloradans believe that the convenience of highcapacity ammunition magazines is less important than saving lives in tragedies like Sandy Hook, Aurora, and Columbine. Most Coloradans believe that people under restraining orders for domestic abuse should not be able to endanger those around them by keeping their guns. That's why I sponsored SB 13-197, a bill that takes guns out of the hands of domestic abusers and will save the lives of many women caught in abusive relationships. I am proud of what has been accomplished over the last year, and I believe these bills will make life better for all the people of my district and for all Coloradans.

66

By resigning, I am protecting these important new laws for the good of Colorado and ensuring that we can continue looking forward.

By resigning, I am making sure that Jefferson County taxpayers aren't forced to pay more than $200,000 for a special election, especially after Jeffco has slashed funding for the Senior Resource Center by $400,000, for the Jefferson Center for Mental Health by $163,000, and for Family Tree by $125,000. I cannot allow these cuts to grow deeper.

Though it is difficult to step aside, I have faith that my colleagues will honor the legacy my constituents and I have built. I am thankful to my fellow legislators who have been so supportive in recent weeks, standing by my side and encouraging me to keep fighting. I am especially thankful to the many volunteers who have been out in the district day after day talking about all of the good things we've done for Colorado.

Respectfully, (signed) Evie Hudak

Remarks of President Carroll:

Good morning. Good morning Senator Cadman, to all of my Republican and Democratic colleagues, guests in the chamber, staff and people of Colorado. Thank you for joining us to help launch the 2014 legislative session.

(I also want to thank my partner and soul mate of 8 years for being here today and being the most supportive partner one can possibly hope for, Mike Weissman.)

Unity. The great seal of the United States carries the inscription, E Pluribis Unum. It means "out of many, one." This motto is who we are as Americans. It is who we are as Coloradans. We are one from many. We are all individuals with different life experiences, coming from different parts of the state or country. Our diversity and differences are a source of strength, and we are here united to serve one goal -- to diligently act as public servants for the people of Colorado.

We are here to work to create good-paying jobs, so that families can pay the bills, have a roof over their head, can afford daycare, send their kids to college or trade school, and enjoy economic security in their retirement. Our job is to pave the way so that Coloradans have the freedom to succeed. I have every reason to believe we can and will work together to accomplish that end.

Education is the backbone of a healthy democracy, a vibrant economy and is essential for individual liberty to pursue their dreams, their careers, their economic security and their passions. Affordable access to a college or trade school education is critical to protect our freedom to succeed.

EDUCATION

Education has always been somewhat of a religion in my family because they all had to fight for the education they received. They saved for it. They sacrificed for it. They cherished it. It opened doors and opened minds. Their story was part of Colorado's story and what education means to real people.

My grandfather Earl Carroll left his home in Illinois as a young man to come to Colorado to work on the railroad and as a ranch-hand in Craig, Colorado. He enlisted in the Army to 66 serve in World War I and when he returned he wanted a college education, but couldn't afford to go. He added jobs, and did without. He described the familiar hunger pangs in great detail, as he would go hungry to help save money so he could get a college education. Like many students today, he didn't start college right after high school and interrupted his education during periods when he needed to work more to earn more money. He attended Colorado State University and went on to law school at the University of Colorado. His education allowed him to make a good life for himself in Alamosa, Lamar, Springfield, Ridgeway, Gunnison and Hotchkiss. During The Depression, he lost a lot, but his education allowed him to survive better than many. But because of his education, he was able to come back strong and he never forgot or took it for granted.

My mom. My mom, Rebecca Bradley, was the first person in her family to complete a college education. When she was growing up in Denver and Aurora in the 1940s and 1950s, many people, including her own father, still believed the only possible future for a woman was to marry and have children. And while that might have been a good choice for some, for her this was a terrifying proposition. She was raised in an environment where she saw her mom trapped in a relationship, financially dependent on someone who, despite his other strengths, was also a controlling, and physically abusive man. Without an education or a job, her mom was entirely financially dependent on someone who was cruel and controlling in an era where divorce was quite unthinkable.

Freedom for my mom -- was an education.

My mom's path to independence -- was an education. But no one in her family had ever had a college education. Her father initially thought like many others at the time -- that a college education was wasted on a girl.

When my mom was 7, she and her younger brother were in the family car, stopped with a flat tire. While her father was changing the tire, he asked her brother, "what do you want to be when you grow up?" He wanted to be a big, strong trash man.

Then my mom asked, "don't you want to know what I want to be when I grow up?"

His answer. "We'll it doesn't matter, you're going to get married."

Her answer. "I don't want to get married. I don't want a man to be my boss."

His answer. "Well even if you go to work, a man will be your boss anyway."

My mom's answer. "No, I'll be my own boss."

Slap.

His response was to hit her in the face at the age of 7. She felt trapped. These life options were not OK to her.

Without any other support or role model, and in the face of active antagonism, my mom went to college at the University of Denver. She was able to go only because of financial aid and scholarships. She received her undergraduate degree in mathematics. Yet her calling was for social justice and as an advocate. She needed to find a way to help other people who lacked the power to fight for their rights. She went on to pursue a law school education at DU, also with the help of financial aid, and was one of only two women in her graduating law school class in 1966.

(I am proud to be joined today by mom and hero, Rebecca Bradley. Please help us welcome her to the Chamber).

While I too, didn't have the money to go to college, didn't go right after high school and had to work throughout college, the choices my parents and grandparents made to pursue higher education, opened doors for me. I worked 2 then 3 jobs after high school to save for college, but in the end I still could not have gone to college without financial aid either. I began at the Community College of Denver, transferred to CU Denver and completed my law degree at CU. This allowed me to practice law with my mother. To this date, we are still the only mother-daughter law firm I have encountered, but I hope there are many more. For my family, an education was not only a path for a career, but the path to freedom and independence, and acquiring the skills to advocate for other people and their rights. If you have been on the other side of being poor, trapped, or discriminated against, you don't forget it, and when you make it -- you have an obligation to ensure others can do the same.

Access to college or trade and technical education changes lives. Yet, the opportunities that were there for 3 generations before me in planting roots in Colorado are now going the wrong way, moving backwards – and college is less affordable now than it was when I 68 was in school.

• College tuition and fees have gone up more than 600% since 1985, more than gas, medical or energy inflation. This is nearly 6-times greater than the increase in general inflation during that same time.

- In 2000, the student share of tuition was 28%, and the state share was 72%. Today, in 2014, that has reversed, where the student share of tuition is now 65% and the state
- College textbooks have gone up 812% since 1978, more than three times the Consumer
- Price Index during the same period. Wages can't keep up. Wages have been stagnant, and yet over the same 10-year period tuition has tripled.
- The average student debt level is now over $29,000 almost doubling in just 8 years.
- There is nearly $1 Trillion in outstanding student debt in the United States.

And it does matter:

- 70% of new jobs in CO will require college or an advanced degree by the end of the decade.
- 5,500 good paying jobs in CO are unfilled right now due to gap in skills training.
- In 2012, the youth unemployment rate nationally was 10% higher for those with a without a college degree.

What we are talking about is squeezing out economic and life opportunities for an entire generation. This is an unsustainable trend that threatens to weaken our economy Shouldn't the next generation have the same or better opportunities than we did? This is about their freedom to succeed. It is about our freedom to succeed.

Our institutions of higher education are not only where economic opportunities are born but also serve as economic engines within our state, whether that be CU, Western State, Auraria, CSU, UNC, Adams Štate, Fort Lewis, Mines, Colorado Mesa or any of our Community Colleges or vocational, technical schools.

That is why we are introducing The College Affordability Act – Senate Bill 1.

The College Affordability Act reflects a shared priority between the Senate, the House, the Governor, and the Joint Budget Committee to put a dent in reversing this trend. Sen. Jahn, Sen. Kerr, Rep. McLachlan and Rep. Garcia are introducing this measure to add over $100 million of re-investment to higher education, increasing both need-based and merit-based financial aid, and restoring a 6% cap on tuition rate increases.

A good education is inextricably tied to a healthy economy and individual opportunities and freedoms to pursue a person's strongest talents and desires. Educated people not only benefit from a higher employment rate and salary, but also help prompt entrepreneurship and job creation. Creating good-paying jobs that foster economic security is a priority for us all to provide the freedom to succeed.

JOB CREATION & ECONOMIC SECURITY

There is some good news in Colorado's economic health. We have out-paced most of the nation in our economic recovery, we have the 4th fastest job growth in the U.S. and that is projected to continue. Right now, CO's current unemployment rate is 6.5%; it was 7.5% a year ago. We are moving in the right direction. Colorado has a good story to tell.

- CO 1st in U.S. for labor supply.
- We are 2nd best state to start a business.
- CO 2nd best state for entrepreneurship & innovation.
- CO 4th best state for projected economic growth in U.S.
- And we have added 161,000 jobs and are one of the few states that have surpassed our pre-recession job levels.

But our recovery is not done and there is another story about our overall economic health that is not included in these figures.

- Our Chronic, Long-Term Unemployed is still too high.
- The US and CO have had stagnate wages for decades while the cost of living climbs
- Gap between the wealthiest and poorest grows greater every year
- The loss of good paying, middle class jobs has destabilized our economy

We know that a good paying job is essential to a person's freedom to succeed as well as the health of our overall economy, which is why I believe Colorado will see us unite in our commitment to continuing to grow good-paying jobs and pursue public policies that improve economic security.

This session you will see legislation and investment to advance:

- Workforce development Job Growth incentives IT and Hospitality Career Pathways Assistance for small businesses to better compete for contracts
- Expanded Investment in Advanced Industries Increased Investment for the Colorado Careers Act
- (Bi-Partisan) Reductions in the Business Personal Property Tax that still protect local government share.

We also know that the freedom to seek and maintain a good-paying job is in no small way impacted by the cost and availability of childcare for working moms and dads.

CHILD CARE

- Colorado has the 5th most expensive child care in the U.S.
- The average annual cost for an infant in Colorado is over $12,000 and over $9,000 annually for a 4 year old.
- Day care is now actually higher than the average cost of in-state tuition at a Colorado 4-year college – and we all agree how expensive college tuition has become.
- This is an even bigger hurdle for women in the work force and is a major contributing factor behind the pay gap between men and women.

This is why we are:

- Enhancing Colorado's Child Care Tax Credit; and
- Enhancing Colorado's Childcare Assistance Program
- Continuing to explore models around the country that support employers who choose provide daycare for their workers

And as we continue to work to strengthen Colorado's economic recovery, we must keep our focus on helping families and communities devastated by floods and wildfires in Colorado.

FLOODS & FIRES

Colorado was hit by a once in 100 year flood in September that killed at least 8 people, damaged or destroyed 2,000 homes, washed out hundreds of miles of roads, completely cut off some communities, damaged nearly 2,000 square miles, shut down 1,900 oil & gas wells, strained wastewater systems, electrical systems, phone service, schools, and businesses.

Within an instant, heroes emerged.

- The first responders were swift, courageous and exceptional throughout the floods. They saved a 23-year-old young mother, Erin Brazzil from drowning as she was trapped in her car. Her 3-year-old daughter Autumn, still has a mother because of our first responders.
- Neighbors helped Carmen Aranda dig out of her driveway so she could transport her disabled son.
- Strangers pitched in without name, credit or recognition. The Boulder Mudslingers organized quickly to offer people power to step in where needed for people they had never met.
- Families set up the Donna Rune Fund when her driveway washed away and left her home stranded as an island.

Parents, children and siblings were separated and sometimes without the ability to communicate. Everyone impacted who survived hugged their children and loved ones a little tighter.

(We are joined by Parker and Bode Johnson and other families who victims of the recent flood. Would all here impacted by the flood please stand and let us welcome you to the Chamber.)

Significant recognition and thanks are due to our Fire Departments, Local Governments, Paramedics, Police, FEMA, and the National Guard. You saved lives often at great risk to 68 your own. Thank you.

I also want to thank Governor Hickenlooper, CDOT and many of our state employees and others who worked around the clock to find as many ways as possible to expedite recovery and relief in our flood-impacted communities. We created the bi-partisan Flood Disaster Study Committee and early bills created include:

- Removing red tape so local communities can expedite repair of roads and bridges.
- Waiving property taxes on destroyed properties

Disasters such as these serve to remind us that the things that matter most in life are the people we love and care about.

PAST SESSION & CIVIL UNIONS

Last session was a busy and productive session and much of what we actually worked on was eclipsed by marijuana and guns in the major headlines. While DC was criticized for doing too little, some questioned whether in CO we did too much. But 95% of all we did in CO we did with bi-partisan support and while some issues were no doubt controversial, most of the policies we pursued, and results we obtained, are supported by a strong majority of Coloradans. I want to thank you for the passage of civil unions and tell you why its passage was so important to me.

I met my friend Darin in 1997 in my first year of law school. We hit it off immediately. We bonded over the tyranny of law school and over an abidingly irreverent sense of humor. Soon after, I would meet Darin's partner, life-mate and soul-mate David Riffle, and the three of us were fast friends.

David was diagnosed on Valentine's Day -- February 14, 2012 -- with an aggressive form of cancer. He fought like a lion. David and Darin watched the 2012 session with great hope and interest, because after 16 years together, they wanted more than anything to enter in a civil union. While they could recognize their relationship in another state, it was important to them both that they be able to do so in their home state of Colorado. Yet civil unions did not pass that year.

David's health took a turn for the worse and he was in and out of hospitals for chemo-therapy and related infections common for people suffering from blood cancers. Last year, with bi-partisan support, we finally passed civil unions, and it was signed into law by Governor Hickenlooper on March 21, 2013. David and Darin were planning on being there, wanted to be there, but David was in the hospital and too sick to attend. Governor Hickenlooper saved him a pen that was used in signing the Civil Unions law and that historic pen was brought to David. I wish you could have been there to see what that signing pen meant to David and Darin.

The first civil union ceremonies were scheduled to begin at midnight on May 1, 2013. But on April 26, just 5 days before, Darin lost the love of his life, to cancer. It was too late for David & Darin to enter into a civil union in Colorado. But it was not too late for others. Sometimes, as Martin Luther King indicated, justice delayed really is justice denied.

(Darin is with us here today in the chamber -- and joining him are Darin and David's nephews, Pierson and Nathan Henry. Please join me in welcoming them to the chamber.)

I want to thank all of you for the work you did in moving Colorado closer to an equality state and to honor the freedom to love your soul-mate and the equal legal rights that go with it.

I want to thank Sen. Roberts and other Republicans for joining us in the final passage of civil unions. But that bi-partisan work and support on important bills was not the exception last session, despite the headlines, it was actually the norm.

WORKING TOGETHER

CO has a proud tradition of Democrats & Republicans working together. Last session in CO, 95% of the bills that passed were bi-partisan. CO has a proud tradition of living within our means with Democrats and Republicans working together to balance our budget every year. When we have identified duplication, waste or inefficiencies within our state, we have worked together to better streamline time and money.

- Sen. Balmer worked with me to help enhance property rights of homeowners in HOAs.
- Sen. Baumgardner carried out the historic work with Sen. Jahn in implementing the first-of-its-kind Amendment 64.
- Sen. Brophy and Hill helped pass in-state tuition for all CO kids who are residents of CO, along with Sen. Johnston and Giron.

- gence 1 o 3 ustody 5
- Sen. Cadman helped fight for justice for families who were victims of state negligence in wildfires with Sen. Morse.
 Sen. Crowder helped expand access to Medicaid and health care in rural Colorado
- Sen. Crowder helped expand access to Medicaid and health care in rural Colorado along with Sen. Aguilar.
- Sens. Harvey and Sheffel helped Sen. Hudak and me protect rape victims from custody battles with a rapist when the rape results in the birth of a child.
- Sen. King worked to enhance the school resource officer programs in public schools with full Democratic support.
- Sen. Lambert helped make income tax modifications for recipients of the Military Family Relief Fund, a military support program I started in 2005.
- Sen. Kenfroe worked with Sen. Hudak to facilitate direct deposit income tax refunds for college savings.

So, as you can see, working together was nothing unusual last session and this session we can do even better.

LET'S DEFY EXPECTATIONS TOGETHER

Yet public opinion of politicians, public servants or anyone in public office is at an all-time low. People are frustrated. They have come to expect the worst from us.

Our founders fought for a country that would represent the people and when elected officials are chosen through free and fair elections, government is no longer an "it" a "them" or an "other" or an "enemy", but a "we" and an "us" and "the people".

While we at the state level cannot fix all of the frustrations and disappointments people experience with elected officials, we can show that WE, here in Colorado, right here in this Senate chamber, are different. WE are better. They deserve to demand and expect more from us as elected leaders.

- Congressional approval is at an all-time low, with an approval rating of 9% and according to an October survey done by Public Policy Polls Congress is less popular than toe nail fungus and dog poop.
- People despise politicians. About.com describes the public sentiment about political debates as "shouting matches filled with insults and half-truths instead of forums for political candidates to express opposing points of view."
 Perhaps most disturbingly, according to the Atlantic millenials (people born between
- Perhaps most disturbingly, according to the Atlantic millenials (people born between 1982 2003) don't see politics or government as a way to improve their communities, their country, or the world.
- Not surprisingly, there is even a hashtag called #politicanssuck.

Let's defy those expectations together.

- People expect us to be self-serving, let's instead be public-serving. We can defy those expectations by putting the needs and interests of the people, and our districts above any personal or partisan interests.
- People expect us to fight and bicker, let's skip the shouting matches and instead problem-solve -- and in those few instances where we are unable to find agreement, let's do so respectfully. Our friendships across the aisle here, at home, among our friends is best path to forego the scorched earth politics, and see the basic humanity in each other and in our differing communities.
- People expect us to put politics over policy, let's instead put good public policy over politics and leave the campaigning and electioneering for after the legislative session and outside of the Capitol.
- People expect us to stall, delay and obstruct, let's instead move at a deliberate, thoughtful pace with timely results that serve the people of Colorado.
- People expect us to put special interests over their interests, let's become instead show through renewed outreach and listening how their ideas become our priorities. And when there are legitimate differences of opinion within our communities, let's mediate rather than divide.
- CO has a proud tradition of Democrats & Republicans working together. I am proud of this Chamber and the people who serve in it. I believe in the power of the people to shape and impact this process. We can all open our doors a little wider, do a little more customer service for our constituents, and put a little more time in trying to best utilize the full talents and knowledge of everyone to get to better results.
- If we do our job, we can defy expectations, serve the people of Colorado, keep the welcome mat out for all Coloradans to participate, and leave this State better than we found it. If we do our job, the people of Colorado will be free to succeed, take personal 68 responsibility and pursue their dreams and goals -- at work, school and at home.

So let's unite and remember the motto on the great seal of the United States, E Pluribis Unum; "Out of Many, One" and make sure that we are working together to create the freedom to succeed.

Thank you for caring about Colorado.

President Carroll recognized Minority Leader Cadman to address the Senate.

Remarks of Minority Leader Cadman:

"To be free is not merely to cast off one's chains, but to live in a way that respects and enhances the freedoms of others," Nelson Mandela.

Good morning President Carroll, Majority Leader Heath, Colleagues, families and guests. Good Morning Secretary Markwell.

Please help me welcome my Wife Lisa. I know I promised you an amazing dinner. What I may have failed to mention, is that we are all having that same dinner together.

It is our tradition to use opening day remarks to look ahead, to share thoughts, plans and hope for how our efforts in this institution will help shape Colorado's future. Opening day offers some themes that are bi-partisan, not all but we tend to focus more on collaboration than confrontation. We share our common concerns for the uncommon challenges of governing. Our tradition also includes looking back, reflecting on recent history, and just like we did last year, it's important to acknowledge and recognize the astounding events that occurred in 2013.

A year that brought Colorado horrific loss from fires, again. 2013 also brought flooding of biblical proportion and unfortunately, in 2013, Colorado experienced another year where unbelievable acts of violence took the lives of the innocent. To the families of Nathan Leon, Tom Clements and Claire Davis you will continue to be in our prayers. Having attended two of those memorial services, I know my own life was enriched by the celebration of their lives. All of us who attended those services are grateful their families.

Our state has had a couple very tough years, and our people have faced historic challenges. Confronted by these trials, we saw, again and again, neighbors, friends, and strangers becoming true heroes all across Colorado.

Predicting and preventing the kind of tragedies we experienced is a noble idea but a nearly impossible quest. Disasters and acts of violence are virtually beyond our control.

Emergency preparation and response is not beyond our control, it's a duty shared by individuals and organizations alike and what we witnessed from Colorado Springs, to Estes Park, From Boulder, to Greeley, from Lyons to the Royal Gorge was a shining example of the heart of Colorado and the spirit of her people. From first responders, to stay-at-home parents, from oil and gas workers to insurance adjusters, from farmers to financial executives, from the National Guard to community churches, from state and federal emergency personnel, to municipal employees. We saw all hands on deck.

The diversity of groups that responded at every crises was incredible, organizations included Jewish Colorado, Samaritan's Purse, Longmont Meals on Wheels, Black Forest Together, The Red Cross, Lutheran Family Services, Boulder Shelter for the Homeless, Catholic Charities of Denver, Weld Food Bank, and the list goes on and on. They all came together for Coloradans in need.

Our devastation was no match for our human spirit.

We have several folks who served during Colorado's disasters. They are special guests here representing all who served. I will ask them to stand, as well as all who are here who answered emergency calls across the state.

Colorado's fires and floods certainly made history. They were not the only notable events of 2013. Last year included the loss of a great leader, Nelson Mandela - a man who certainly left his mark on the entire world. 2013 also brought the 100th birthday of the income tax for some reason; we didn't celebrate that one here in February. That one continues to leave its mark. This chamber lost one of its own, and we celebrated Senator Gordon's life yesterday. What a fitting tribute to the life of a leader. Speaking of this chamber, of course, 2013 brought historic changes here.

So now we have three brand new senators. I had a front row seat while you were each sworn in, but let me take this opportunity in front of our entire body to welcome and congratulate each of you. Senator Herpin, Senator Rivera, and Senator Zenzinger. You can tell whose new here, they are still smiling, because none of their bills have been to state affairs, yet.

I would be remiss if I didn't ask for everyone here to join me in thanking your predecessors, President Morse and Senators Giron and Hudak for their service.

Senator Guzman – Thank you for your service, you made history too. Assuming the helm under unpredictable circumstances you exhibited amazing grace. Colorado and most notably this chamber was well served by you.

2013 brought changes to this body. We all know what happened so I'm not going to discuss that. I won't discuss what happened, I will discuss why it happened.

I want to talk about why this happened - and not just the recalls. I want to talk about why the people of Colorado had such a visceral response to what took place in this legislature last session. I want to talk about why. Why we saw historic reactions by Coloradans to what their General Assembly produced during the 1st session of the 69th legislative term.

"History made every day" is the slogan of the popular cable network. Why did we make history so much history.

- Why did we make history with multiple recall attempts and we now have 3 new senators.
- Why Did We Make History with a lawsuit filed against the state by our own law enforcement officials. Why are 55 sheriffs suing over what we did here last year. They even have their own poster!!
- Why Did We Make History when nearly a dozen counties actually proposed seceding from their own state.
- Why Did We Make History when the people of this state rose up to soundly reject a ballot initiative that was predicated on what we passed last session?
- Quite The Historic Interim

We were here just a few months ago. Doesn't it seem hard to believe that all that really happened since we adjourned. History made everyday in Colorado. The question is why? Anyone, anyone? Bueler? Guns, taxes, rights, those are all part of the "what".

I know you are now all asking "Y".

It's pretty simple, it's a math problem.

Some of you think, right, you have the numbers, we have a math problem.

It's not the numbers. It's the formula. This math problem is the formula.

Last year this chamber was 20 Democrats, 15 Republicans. Those were the numbers, they are now 18-17. The numbers do change over time.

The formula was 20 Democrats versus 15 Republicans. I am not sure if there is a math symbol for versus, but here is one that applies - division. Democrats divided Republicans equaled = history made every day with recalls, lawsuits, secession and initiative rejection.

The formula is wrong. Democrats divided by Republicans does not produce outcomes that are representative of this state. In addition to the historic events, that formula produced a hyper-partisan toxin that affected this entire institution, those who serve here and all who visited here, we started looking like congress.

When the left side of this chamber is divided by the right side of this chamber, this place does not represent who's outside this chamber.

The left side divided by the right side does not represent whose outside.

When President Abraham Lincoln said a house divided cannot stand, he was talking about 68 government. When Jesus said it he was talking about "Kingdoms in heaven and on earth," Government" I think they were on to something.

History made every day. Spanish philosopher Jorge Santayana, wisely cautioned those not 72 willing to learn from history are destined to repeat it.

Are we willing to learn from history or are we destined to repeat it?

Are we willing to agree that the formula here is broken, and are we willing to try a new one?

What would the outcomes be if we replaced the division sign with an addition sign?

Instead of D's divided by R's, what if we try D's plus R's. We do have examples of that, but they certainly fade when hyper-partisan politics and narrow special interests control this institution from that lobby.

There are 35 of us here. We get elected in Districts. But everything we do, every vote we cast, every dollar we spend affects the entire state - 5.3 million people. And for their sake, we need to keep focused on our shared values and find common goals. Our challenges continue year after year.

The challenges to do what's best for restarting our economy - the unemployment rate is still 50% higher than in 2008. Colorado still has counties that are suffering double digit unemployment.

- We are challenged do what's best for reviving rural Colorado,
- We Are Challenged to remove barriers to higher Education access for Colorado's working families, we are challenged especially this year, to rebuild our infrastructure.
- We Are Greatly Challenged to do what's best for our kids and continued K-12 reform is vital. 26% of Colorado students attend a school that is rated D or F. A quarter of our kids head to a school every day that is failing to provide them the education guaranteed to them by our constitution. This is unacceptable and inexcusable. If we don't fix this, we are failing them. We Are Challenged by These issues they are complex they are tough.

This chamber has only one session to work together to tackle them-one session.

Term limits guarantee at least 5 of us won't be back. (Schwartz, Tochtrop, Harvey, GOV Brophy, Sen. Renfroe) The upcoming campaign year brings uncertainty about who serves here in the future.

Both sides will do their best to win more seats, both sides will do their best to "change the numbers."

Our challenge today is to change the formula. Our challenge is to build up relationships that tear down partisanship.

It's up to us, right here, right now - Democrats plus Republicans equals all of us representing all of Colorado.

Next year, on Opening Day of 2015, will we look back and say we made history or repeated it?

I will spare us all, I won't go through that list again.

If you believe The left side of this chamber plus the right side of this chamber equals what's best for those who are outside of this chamber, then we can make history every day - we have 119 to go.

Thank You.
