

The drain line from the kitchen sink has been drilled and tapped for the brine flush from the water softener creating a cross connection between the sewer and potable water supply!

05.05.2009 22:02