program, in any of grades one through 12, or in a state-supported institution of higher education. The bill requires these members to reflect student populations that are significantly represented in the state. Two of these members must be members of a school accountability committee or a school district accountability committee.

! The council currently includes a representative from each of the parent information and resource centers in the state that are recognized by and receiving funding from the office of innovation and improvement in the federal department of education. The bill replaces these members with members who represent each of 2 state-based nonprofit organizations that specialize in promoting the involvement of parents of traditionally underserved populations.

! The council currently includes a representative from each of the parent training and information centers in the state that are recognized by and receiving funding from the office of special education and rehabilitative services in the federal department of education. The bill replaces these members with a single member who represents a nonprofit organization that specializes in promoting the involvement of parents of students with special needs.

! The council currently includes a representative from each of 2 nonprofit organizations that partner with funding providers, state agencies, and service providers to assist organizations in providing services to improve the health and well-being of families and children. The bill eliminates one such member.

! The council currently includes a representative of an organization that represents parents and students who advocate in the areas of equality and justice in education, racial justice for youth, and immigrant rights. The bill eliminates this member.

! The council currently includes a representative of a statewide organization that represents career and technical education teachers. The bill eliminates this member.

The council currently includes two persons appointed by the executive director of the department of higher education. The bill eliminates the requirement that one of these persons shall have expertise in implementing an approved educator preparation program at an institution of higher education in this state. The bill also removes the requirement that one of these persons shall have expertise in the secondary-to-higher-education transition programs operated within the state.

For the purposes of membership of school accountability committees, the bill defines "student populations that are significantly represented within the school" to mean student populations that each constitute at least ten percent of the total population of students in the school.

For the purposes of membership of school district accountability committees, the bill defines "student populations that are significantly represented within the school district" to mean student populations that each constitute at least ten percent of the total population of students in the school district.
