Summary of Legislation

Under current law, the Department of Revenue (DOR) is allowed, but not required, to register and issue a special registration plate for a motor vehicle that is valued because of its early date of manufacture. This bill amends a "special registration plate" to a "horseless carriage special license plate." It defines early date of manufacture as a vehicle that is at least 50 years old. If such a vehicle is registered, the bill requires the DOR to register it and issue it license plates for a period of no more than 5 years.

State Revenues

The bill requires vehicles that are 50 years old, if they are registered, to be registered and issued license plates for a period of not more than 5 years. In FY 2004-05, approximately 102,000 vehicles that were 25 years or older, defined as collector's items, were registered in Colorado. These vehicles are required to be registered on a 5-year basis. The vehicles are subject to a fee to issue the registration and special plate equal to $5 for a 5-year period, and a $1.50 annual specific ownership fee for each year of registration ($7.50). Because the bill impacts a portion of vehicles not included in the 102,000 that are already registered, this fiscal note estimates a revenue impact of less than $5,000.

State Expenditures

The Department of Revenue indicates that it would require modifications to its Colorado State Titling & Registration System (CSTARs) to implement the bill. These costs are directly related to the creation of a new license plate. However, the bill does not necessarily establish a new license plate, so this fiscal notes assumes that no new plate is created.

Local Government Impact

The bill will potentially increase HUTF revenue from fees, 35 percent of which is distributed to counties and municipalities for highway purposes.

State Appropriations

No new appropriations are needed for FY 2006-07 to implement this bill.
