

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Colorado:

The constitution of the state of Colorado is amended BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW ARTICLE:

Article XXIX
Ethics in Government

Section 1. Purposes and Findings

The people of the state of Colorado hereby find and declare that the conduct of public officers, members of the general assembly, local government officials and government employees must hold the respect and confidence of the people; that they shall carry out their duties for the benefit of the people of the state; that they must, therefore, avoid conduct which is in violation of their public trust or which creates a justifiable impression among the public that such trust is being violated; that any effort to realize personal financial gain through public office other than compensation provided by law is a violation of that trust; that to ensure propriety and to preserve public confidence, they must have the benefit of specific standards to guide their conduct, and of a penalty mechanism to enforce those standards. The people of the state of Colorado also find and declare that there are certain costs associated with holding public office and that to ensure the integrity of the office and to comply with this article, such costs of a reasonable and necessary nature should be born by the State or local jurisdiction.
