

Mr. Mlinek,

We are submitting the following proposal for review and comment, and not a moment too soon.

PROPOSAL

“Should an official sick day on the third Friday of each October be declared for the workers of Colorado and designated as St. Hooky’s Day?”

Colorado citizens work too hard. We don’t take our paid vacation time off, and we go to work each day despite blizzards, perfect snowboarding days, gorgeous summer mornings, and the stomach flu. Therefore we hereby propose that the third Friday of every October be designated as St. Hooky’s Day; one day per year when the workers are honored, and encouraged to call in sick and take back what’s theirs. Though we understand the conflict of logic that is getting an official holiday set aside for the sole purpose of calling in sick, we wish you would just go along with us here. We deserve a day to play hooky.

Please feel free to contact Nate Warren, Sean Cronin, or me with any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Eric

Eric S. Elkins
Bias1
Bias Media LLP
Suite 106
1560 Broadway
Denver, CO 80202
303.830.7047
FAX 303.830.7049
eric@biasdotcom.com

Nathan Warren
Bias2
Bias Media LLP
Suite 106
1560 Broadway
Denver, CO 80202
303.830.7046
FAX 303.830.7049
nate@biasdotcom.com

Sean Cronin
Bias6
2303 Humboldt Street
Denver, CO 80217
303.249.9869
newkewlar@gmail.com